Announcement

It has now been 120 years since a man from Remscheid-Lennep received the Nobel Prize for physics: Wilhelm Conrad Röntgen. On 8 November 1895 Röntgen, working at the University of Würzburg, discovered the rays since named after him. For more than 123 years x-rays have been applied and developed even further for the benefit of patients in medical technology. Their use opened up the path to modern diagnostic medicine and radiation therapy.

On the 100th anniversary of the awarding of the first Nobel Prize, the City of Remscheid dedicated this X-ray running Day to its illustrious son and it is now being held for the 22nd time.

Organiser: Röntgen Sport Club Remscheid e.V.

Sponsors: City of Remscheid, Department of Schools and Sports
Lennep Gymnastics Club

Distances

63.3 km run (1 round = original Röntgenweg)

Röntgenweg is a very varied circular course around Remscheid offering spectacular views of the Bergische (Hilly) region landscape along its 63.3 km stretch. It runs through cool valleys and passes by water hammers acting as witnesses to the industrialisation setting in during the 19th century. Passing in front of old Berg half-timbered houses, the path passes underneath Germany's highest railway bridge and then over the mediaeval castle of Burg in the direction of Germany's oldest dammed reservoir. The difference in altitude comes to about 1,100 metres.
